CPP40821 Certificate IV in Access Consulting – Overview

What is involved in completing the Certificate IV in Access Consulting?

The Certificate IV in Access Consulting is a nationally recognised qualification in Australia.

To become an Accredited Access Consultant or a Specialist Disability Accommodation Assessor, you must complete an Access Consulting qualification.

The Certificate IV in Access Consulting consists of 20 units of competency.

The core units focus on access and Universal Design in the built environment, covering a wide range of settings, including buildings, outdoor recreation areas, streetscapes, playgrounds, and private dwellings (including Specialist Disability Accommodation and Livable Housing). These units also involve conducting Access Audits using a comprehensive auditing process, which is included in the course learning materials.

This qualification covers key access-related legislation, including:

- The Disability Discrimination Act 1992 (DDA)
- The Disability (Access to Premises—Buildings) Standards 2010, including the 2024 amendment
- The National Construction Code (NCC)
- Relevant Australian Standards for Access and Mobility

Trainers provide in-depth instruction on these topics, and each unit is supported by a detailed Learner Guide.

Additionally, this course includes administrative support units covering workplace health and safety, business risk management, and research. These units are primarily completed through self-study, using Learner Guides and instructional videos.

The course is delivered holistically, meaning that units are not taught in isolation. Many topics are interconnected, reinforcing the principles and processes needed to provide effective access consulting.

How is the Course delivered?

The course is delivered live via Zoom. Before each session, you will receive a Zoom link, allowing you to join from your own device. There is no need to download software, and our Administration Manager is available to assist with any technical issues.

To participate, you will need access to a camera and microphone to engage in class discussions.

Class schedule: Sessions typically run daily from 10:00 AM – 4:30 PM (Melbourne time).

Course dates are detailed in this Course Information Handbook.

What is the difference between the Certificate IV and the Diploma of Access Consulting Course?

The Diploma of Access Consulting consists of 25 units of competency.

The Certificate IV and the Diploma of Access Consulting qualifications contain 16 common units of competency.

The Diploma expands on the knowledge and concepts of access in the Certificate IV, and includes additional units covering anthropometrics, human body functions, and ergonomics, providing a deeper understanding of access principles and Universal Design. This knowledge is essential for effectively advising clients.

Are there any prerequisites for the course?

There are no formal prerequisites. However, some course components have been adapted to recognise the prior learning and experience of professionals such as Building Surveyors, Architects and Building Designers. This may reduce course duration and assessment requirements for eligible participants.

For other students, if you can provide evidence of Recognised Prior Learning (RPL), Access Institute can review your experience and discuss possible reductions in session attendance and/or assessment tasks.

What is involved in course assessment?

Assessment is required for each unit; however, some elements are assessed holistically rather than individually. For example, as there are multiple units related to Access Auditing (e.g., for buildings, playgrounds, outdoor recreation areas and streetscapes), the assessment process is consolidated rather than repeated for each unit.

Assessments include:

- Written questions
- Workplace simulations
- Online multiple-choice tests

You have up to 12 months from your course commencement to complete the assessments. The time required will vary depending on your prior experience and skills. Guidance and support are available throughout the process.

Rather than a traditional pass or fail system, assessments determine whether you are 'competent' or 'not yet competent'. If you are assessed as 'not yet competent', the assessor will provide feedback and support to help you reach competency.

What learning materials are provided?

Each unit includes a comprehensive Learner Guide along with additional resources, such as:

- Resource Documents
- Legislation
- Universal Design considerations
- Auditing Checklists and Templates
- Weblinks
- Videos

These materials are accessible through the Access Institute Student Portal, instructions are provided on how to use it.

All relevant legislation is supplied as part of the course. However, you will need to obtain your own copies of the required Australian Standards, which are listed in this Course Information Handbook.

Course Overview

The aim of the course is to provide students with a premium nationally recognised qualification as an Access Consultant. The course provides students with the skills required to become an effective Access Consultant in an ever growing, lucrative and interesting field of work.

The course is delivered live online via Zoom by access industry experts with specialist training skills. There is plenty of time for discussion and questions, with more than 30 years of practical expertise shared by trainers.

The course incorporates the latest changes to relevant legislation and the newest thinking regarding adoption of the principles of Universal Design in the built and service environment. It also provides the basis for a comprehensive understanding of the reasons behind the legislation and standards and the principles of Universal Design, – the ‘Why’s’ of Access – relating to the function and use of buildings, facilities, and services.

What is the role of an Access Consultant?

An Access Consultant plays a crucial role in ensuring that built environments, facilities, and infrastructure are designed, constructed, and maintained to be accessible and inclusive for all individuals. These environments could be permanent like commercial buildings, recreation and tourism centres, schools and houses, or outdoor spaces like streetscapes and playgrounds, or they could be temporary structures used for festivals and events.

Inclusion of people with both permanent and temporary disabilities, older adults, families with young children, multi-generational families, tourists, and all communities where gender equity and cultural considerations paramount in consideration of access to the built and service environment are all addressed by effective Access Consultants.

Access Consultants have expertise in relevant standards and regulations, as well as an understanding of the principles of Universal Design and how to apply these, particularly in the built and service environments. Access Consultants work to make sure that buildings and public spaces are compliant with relevant laws, such as the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the National Construction Code (NCC) as well as considering the principles of Universal Design. Key aspects of an Access Consultants role are:

Assessment and Compliance: Access Consultants assess existing structures and new construction projects to determine if they meet the necessary access standards and compliance requirements. They review architectural plans, building, facility, and event designs, and as well as parks and outdoor spaces to identify potential barriers and recommend necessary upgrade actions.

Universal Design Advice: Many Access Consultants provide advice over and above minimum access compliance requirements and use the principles of Universal Design to advise clients on ways that their projects can be inclusive for everyone. This ensures that as many people as possible regardless of age, gender or ability can use the building, facility, or service to the greatest extent possible. This assists in future proofing and eliminates the need for retrofitting to meet particular individual requirements.

Design Reviews: Access Consultants collaborate with architects, designers, and builders to ensure that access and Universal Design principles are integrated into the initial design phase of a project. This may include making recommendations for accessible entrances, pathways, ramps, and the provision of amenities like bathrooms and parking, as well as functional considerations within a space that address the needs of all users.

Access Audits: Access Consultants conduct access audits of public and private spaces to evaluate their compliance with relevant regulations as well as consideration of the principles of Universal Design. They write reports detailing areas that may need upgrade and provide recommendations for improvements.

Documentation and Reports: Access Consultants prepare detailed reports and documentation that outline accessibility issues, proposed solutions, and where necessary, cost estimates for improvements. These reports are often used in planning and decision-making processes.

Expertise in Standards: Access Consultants must stay updated on access standards, codes, and regulations. In Australia, some of these standards include the:

- Disability (Access to Premises - Buildings) Standards 2010
- Australian Standards for Access and Mobility such as AS 1428 suite
- Specialist Disability Accommodation (SDA) Design Standard
- Australian Building Codes Board (ABCB) – Livable Housing Design Standard
- Changing Places Specifications
- The Workplace Gender Equality Act 2012 and the Workplace Gender Equality Amendment 2023

Specialist Expertise and Accreditation: Many qualified Access Consultants have prerequisites to become Specialist Disability Accommodation Assessors and Home Modification Assessors for the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS), as well as Changing Places Assessors and Livable Housing Design Assessors.

Advocacy: Access Consultants often advocate for access and inclusion on behalf of people with disabilities, promoting the removal of barriers and the creation of more accessible environments.

Dispute Resolution: Access Consultants can be involved in dispute resolution processes when conflicts arise related to access and inclusion. They may provide expert opinions and guidance to resolve access and inclusion-related disputes. Research and Innovation: Some Access Consultants engage in research and innovation related to access and inclusion, working on ways to improve design, technology, and practices to enhance access and inclusion in various settings.

Access Consultants play a vital role in making public and private spaces more inclusive and ensuring that everyone has equitable access to the built environment and services. Their work helps Australia meet its legal obligations and creates a more accessible and equitable society.

National Recognised Qualifications

The first national qualifications and units of competency for access consulting were endorsed in 2005 in recognition of the emergence of this significant industry sector and were included in PRD01 Property Development and Management Training Package.

The access consulting sector offers services across nineteen main areas of activity. People working as Access Consultants, and organisations providing access consulting services, may provide the full range or may choose to offer only some of these services.

The range of Access Consulting services are:

- Facilitate the development of Disability Discrimination Act Action Plans

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) and Credit Transfer

RPL is the recognition of learning or competencies that have been previously achieved. Once enrolled, students may be able to apply for RPL if they can demonstrate sufficient experience and successfully complete all of the assessment tasks and questions from the relevant units of competency.

Credit transfer allows students to count relevant, successfully completed studies – achieved at TAFE colleges, accredited private providers, professional organisations or enterprises and universities – towards their current course or qualifications.

Credit transfer works by students receiving credit for units they have previously completed and are exempt from retaking them, therefore reducing the study load. Students must provide certified copy of evidence that they have previously completed the relevant units.

If you are interested in RPL or applying for credit transfer, please contact Access Institute prior to enrolment in the course for further information. Applications for RPL and credit transfer must be received by Access Institute at least 3 weeks prior to course commencement, to allow time for assessment. If this does not occur student assessment materials may be destroyed.

Any 'request for return of assessment materials' must include the students name, course name, location of delivery and date of completion, as well as the postal address where the student assessment materials are to be returned.

If students wish to have their assessment materials returned, a fee will apply to cover the cost of administration and postage. This fee will be provided to the student upon receipt of their 'request For Return of Assessment Materials'.

Access Institute recommends that students keep a copy of any assessment materials sent to Access Institute as Access Institute is not responsible for loss of these.

Further details regarding students results and assessment are detailed in Access Institute Retention of Student Results and Assessment Records Policy.

Extension of Time to Submit Assessment Material

Access Institute acknowledges that on occasions there may be factors that can impact on a student's ability to successfully complete their studies within the prescribed 12 month timeframe.

Students are therefore given the opportunity to apply for one extension of time to submit assessment material beyond the prescribed 12 month timeline, if any of the following factors apply:

1. The student has been ill for more than 1 month within the prescribed 12 month timeline; (a medical Certificate is required to verify this occurrence).
2. A direct family member of the student has been ill for more than 1 month within the prescribed 12 month timeline and the student has been required to undertake 'carer' responsibilities for that family member; a Statutory Declaration is required to verify this occurrence.
3. If the student believes there are other significantly unusual or extenuating circumstances that have impacted on the student's ability to submit the assessment material within the prescribed 12 month timeframe – this does not include 'being too busy'.

Any extension is granted at the prerogative of Access Institute Assessor and Access Institute reserves the right to refuse any application for an extension.

No more than one extension will be granted. A fee of $50 per application applies.

The maximum time for an extension is an additional 12 months from the initial assessment due date. All decisions are final.

As with all professions a 'Tool Kit' is required to perform all the tasks necessary. To be an Access Consultant you require a 'Tool Kit' that includes a range of reference materials

Students will require access to ALL reference materials from Day 2 of the Online Class sessions.

This can be either in hardcopy or electronically. Students will need to arrange this prior to the course commencement, e.g. a laptop, iPad or similar device with documents stored on these or have documents in hardcopy format.

Required Reference Materials

Students will be provided with a wide range of reference materials via the Access Institute Student Portal. Comprehensive Course Learner Guides will also be provided for each unit of competency. Students will also be provided with a list of all reference materials relating to each unit of competency, prior to course commencement.

Students will need access to these reference materials in order to complete the course. These reference materials can be downloaded onto your own device from the Student Portal and used electronically or printed in hardcopy.

Some of these key reference materials are listed below and can also be downloaded prior to course commencement from the relevant websites listed, at no charge, if you wish to review them in advance of the course enrolment.

Consumers who have complex needs or issues are able to contact the Commonwealth Department of Industry, Science and Resources to seek advice and assistance to access referenced Australian Standards on a case by case basis.

In its Distribution and Licensing Policy Framework (November 2019), Standards Australia outlined a commitment to make Australian Standards for personal, domestic or household use available at no cost to end users. In August 2023, Standards Australia launched the Reader Room platform, which offers free read-only access for non-commercial (personal, domestic, or household) use to Australian Standards' publications, including AS 1428.1.

Pre course Reading

Whilst pre course reading is not mandatory, however, in order to prepare for the learning content of the course it is highly recommended that students familiarise themselves with the content of the required reference documents listed below:

- Disability Discrimination Act 1992
- Disability (Access to Premises- Buildings) Standards 2010
- AS1428.1 2021

Whilst it is not necessary to know all the detail in these documents, it would be beneficial to understand what is included in these documents and how they are structured. There will be some short online multiple-choice quizzes throughout the Course relating to these documents and for those students who are not familiar with them, this familiarisation process will assist.

Access Legislation and Standards

There is a range of legislation and Standards in Australia that are relevant to the provision of equitable, dignified access to buildings and facilities. All of these must be taken into consideration in the design, construction, and upgrade of buildings to ensure that access is available for all users including staff and the public.

Disability Discrimination Act 1992 (DDA)

All organisations have a responsibility, under the Commonwealth Disability Discrimination Act (DDA) 1992, to provide equitable access to goods and services and to premises used by the public. Premises are broadly defined and would include all areas included within a building.

The DDA provides uniform protection against unfair and unfavourable treatment for people with a disability in Australia. It also makes it unlawful to discriminate against a person who is an 'associate' (such as a friend, carer or family member).

Disability (Access to Premises – Buildings) Standards 2010

The Disability (Access to Premises- Buildings) Standards were introduced in line with an updated Building Code of Australia on 1st May 2011.

The aim of these Standards is to provide the building and design industry with detailed information regarding the required access provisions associated with the design and construction of new buildings and upgrade to existing buildings.

These Standards align with the BCA and reference a range of Australian Standards relating to access and other associated matters. The Disability (Access to Premises – Buildings) Standards 2010 aim to provide certainty for the building industry in relation to meeting the requirements for access in new and upgraded building - (regarding the elements covered by the Premises Standards. Other elements in buildings are still subject to the provisions of the DDA.)

The Disability (Access to Premises – Buildings) Standards 2010, the Explanatory Statement that assists in interpreting the Standards and the Frequently Asked Questions relating to the Disability (Access to Premises – Buildings) Standards

2010 are available for free download at: <https://www.humanrights.gov.au/frequently-asked-questions-access-premises> - Free

The guideline on interpreting the Premises Standards is also available for free download www.humanrights.gov.au - Free

National Construction Code (incorporating the Building Code of Australia (BCA))

The Building Code of Australia, in conjunction with the DDA, applies to new buildings and buildings undergoing significant refurbishment or alteration. Sections of the BCA require compliance with a range of access provisions. The BCA outlines a variety of building classifications and the requirements for access to buildings within each classification. The BCA has been updated to align with Disability (Access to Premises – Buildings) Standards 2010, and has been incorporated into the National Construction Code.

Australian Standards

Australian Standards (AS 1428) - Design for Access and Mobility

AS 1428 prescribes the requirements for physical access which should be considered in the planning, development and construction of all buildings and facilities.

Given the comprehensive definitions and requirements of the DDA, the BCA and AS 1428, as well as other relevant regulations relating to specific types of buildings, it is important to ensure that these Australian Standards are considered in any refurbishment, development or changes to any premises.

Australian Standards should be referred to for further detailed information regarding the requirements for access to buildings and facilities.

Currently AS1428 comprises five active parts:

AS 1428.1:2001 & 2021	Design for access and mobility General Requirements for Access – New Building Work
AS 1428.2:1992	Design for access and mobility Enhanced and Additional Requirements - Buildings and Facilities
AS / NZS 1428.4:1 2009	Tactile Ground Surface Indicators for the Orientation of People with Vision Impairment

AS 1428.4.2: 2018	Design for access and mobility means to assist the orientation of people with vision impairment - Wayfinding signs
AS 1428.5: 2022	Communication for people who are deaf or hearing impaired

It should be noted that Australian Standards are updated periodically. This does not mean that these updated Standards are automatically referenced or mandated for use by any Legislation. The Standards listed above are the current Standards applicable to this Course.

Part 1 provides a minimum level of access. This Standard is referenced in the Access Code of the Disability (Access to Premises – Buildings) Standard 2010, which generally align with the BCA.

Part 2 includes references to many standard items used in the everyday environment including some fixtures and fittings and other elements which are not covered in Part 1. Part 2 provides a level of access above that required in Part 1. Organisations are encouraged, where possible, to use enhanced requirements.

Part 4 contains two Standards. Part 4.1:2009 deals with Tactile Ground Surface Indicators and the requirements for these in buildings and related areas. Part 4.2: 2018 deals with orientation of people with vision impairment, particularly relating to Wayfinding signs.

Part 5 addresses the principles to consider when providing facilities for people who are deaf or hearing impaired, particularly Assistive Listening Devices and communication systems.

Australian Standards are often updated, so care should be taken to ensure that the most current version of the relevant Standard is always used. Using an out of date version of a Standard may mean that the information is incorrect and does not meet the current requirements for access and mobility.

In addition a number of other Australian Standards are also relevant to particular access elements e.g. car parking and lifts and should be referenced for further details.

Schedule 1 of the Disability (Access to Premises – Buildings) Standards 2010 references relevant access standards.

Australian Standards are available for purchase from Standards Australia at <https://www.standards.org.au/>

Resources

Students will be required to arrange access to a building e.g. office, shop, community centre or similar to undertake an assessment task. Further details will be provided during the course.

Course Materials

Access Institute uses VETtrak, an Integrated Student Management System (SMS) which is a user-friendly way for students to access information about their training via the internet. Students will have access to unit Learner Guides, Assessment Sections and relevant resources via the VETtrak Student Portal.

Note: These documents are copyright© protected and cannot be forwarded to a third party.

Students must have access to the following documents for every session:
our:

- Printed copy of the Learner Guide, Assessment Section and reference materials; or
- A computer on which the Learner Guide, Assessment Section and reference materials has been downloaded.
- If provided by Access Institute, the course session timetable.

Upon Course Confirmation, Access Institute will supply enrolled students with log in details to the Student Portal, via email. It is essential prior to attending the first session that students have done this as they will need these documents in class.

Internet access and Wi Fi and Zoom

Access Institute recommends downloading all required reference documents to a computer for ease of storage.

We will be using Zoom for the online delivery. Students don't need to download Zoom to participate in the session but may wish to download this to their computer and test this in their own time to get an idea of how it works. It is a free program. <https://zoom.us/>

Access Institute cannot guarantee internet access at any time. If the internet connection drops out whilst the sessions are being delivered live, enrolled students will be provided with instructions of how the session will continue.

Accessing the Online Training Sessions

Access Institute will provide students with details of how to access the online sessions.

We will be using software called Zoom. We can deliver a meeting or webinar via this program.

We will forward you a link via email to connect to the Zoom Sessions.

You do not need to download any software (You can if you wish, download Zoom, it is not necessary. You may however wish to do this and have a practice in using Zoom before the session, to familiarise yourself with it if you wish).

Basically we will be having a 'meeting' over the internet. You will be able to see and hear the trainer and also see the PowerPoint or other training material the trainer wishes to show you, on your computer screen.

You will also be able to talk and ask questions and the trainer will be able to talk to you. Everyone will be able to hear and talk to each other just like a live meeting.

If you have trouble with access to Zoom during the meeting you can call our office on 03 9988 1979 or email at admin@accessinstitute.com.au and we will try and assist you.

“What does competency mean?”

Competency is the formally recognised ability to perform a task under specified conditions to a precise standard. Units of competency are national industry approved standards that outline the knowledge and skills necessary for effective performance in the workplace.

National Training Packages consist of a number of units of competency covering such topics as: OHS, technical skills, communications, quality control and many other aspects of a job. Each unit defines the industry benchmark for performing a workplace task.

“What happens if a student is deemed ‘Not Yet Competent’?”

Access Institute provides learning and assessment support to students in order to help them achieve competency. After 3 series of coaching and reassessments, if students are still unable to demonstrate competency, it is our suggestion that the student resit the program.

“What is the difference between a Testamur, Statement of Attainment and a Certificate?”

Testamurs and Statements of Attainment are issued in accordance with AQF Standards. A Statement of Attainment is evidence that a student has achieved competency set for a unit of competency which forms part of a qualification. A Testamur is issued when a student has been deemed competent in all units that make up a full qualification.
